

I'm not sure about the side bar yet, and I don't know if everything I've outlined will function, or if I will add accounts/authenticity. Or if you'll actually be able to sort? I think if all the blogs are in a database I should be able to get that to work – and the “my page” on the side would work if I did do accounts. I feel like the sign-in page will definitely need to have a disclaimer that this website isn't super secure though, but I think there isn't much risk.